Just Like All Other Clergymen.

Just Like All Other Clergimen.

Frank'is Spectator.

A prominent Methodist clergyman tells the following story of an aged Bapilat preacher who always contrived to lug baptism into his sermons, whatever his text might be. The old gentleman was asked one day if he could possibly preach doctrine. He said he could, and would, if they would give him a text without any baptism in it. The first chapter of Ezra, ninth verse, was selected, which reads as follows: "And this is the number of them; thirty charges of gold, a thousand charges of silver, nine and twenty knives." He entered the pulpit, read his text, and addi: "My brethren, I don't see what they wanted of so many knives unless it was to cut the loe in order to baptize the people."

now editor of the Augusta (Ga.) Conditutionalis: He attended one day a colored church in the country and hal in his pocket a silver half-dollar, just the fare panks of the Ganges at Cawapore. It posses a sure that the conclusion of correct the second to see the throne of God in all its back to Augusta. At the conclusion of correct splendor, up and out from which his sermon the minister ordered a collect that the sermon of another neacock throne, tion for his own brenefit. "Of cours," sorgeous splendor, up and out from which lis sermon the minister ordered a collective that the sweep of another peacock throne, tion for his own benefit. "Of course," each feather of gold, ran great bands of sunlight to the zenith and horizm. But to have the Taj Mahal as afigure in a sunset is worth the coming to India to see. Best of all we saw the Taj by moonlight was to go the Taj Garden. We stood before it as before the embodied genius of loveliness. Then could I understand why one of its admires, looking at it until almost lost in wonder, whispered, "Dream in courtle."

For the last two years I have hobbled around on crutches. During that time I was afflicted with static rheumatism. I not only suffered terrible pain night and day, but was utterly helpless. After using every possible effort to get well, and exhausting the bist medical advise, I was induced to try four Allcock's Porous Plasters. These I wore on my side, hip-bone and thigh, In a one week I was almost entiraly free from pain, and strength returned to my polsied limb. I continued using these plasters with the most surprising results for three months, when I became perfectly cured, and abandoned the use of crutches.
